MRH WEEKEND REVIEW

CRANK - 1ST - TERANG MAIDEN 1000M

Crank was super on Sunday at Terang on what looked to be a bottomless track. Jamie Mott rode him perfectly and was able to get him onto the best part of the track to be too strong late.

He is now the first Australian winner for sire, Wooded, and looks to have plenty more wins in store for him in the near future. Congratulations to all connections.

DIVERSITY - 1ST - EAGLE FARM CLASS 1 1600M

Diversity endured a tough run 2nd up at Eagle Farm on Wednesday, but still managed to hold on to win another race in metro grade. She relished the rise to 1600m, and looks to be a filly that will continue to relish more ground in time.

Michael and Lee are currently mapping out a program for her, which could see her Grand Final as the Group 1 Queensland Oaks in June.

NEWY - 7TH - GOSFORD CLASS 1 1200M

Newy didn't quite handle the conditions at Gosford on Thursday. The track was a Good 4, and it's known from his previous starts that he prefers a bit of give in the ground. Rider Tommy Sherry also mentioned that he got a bit lost around the bend and would appreciate a bigger track at his next start.

Trainer Kris Lees has always been confident that he could get to a mile in time, so hopefully he goes up in trip at his next start and we see some improvement as a result.

KUNG FU KID - 8TH - WERRIBEE MAIDEN 1000M

Kung Fu Kid made his much-anticipated debut at Werribee on Saturday, but it wasn't to be for this son of Capitalist. Rider John Allen mentioned that he felt Kung Fu Kid had every chance to win, but just didn't let down at a key stage.

He will gain some much needed experience from the outing, and we expect him to improve 2nd up should be pull up well from Saturday's run.
